Renewal

Editorial DCJ

As we begin a New Year, we are all likely to think of the good parts of the one just expended. As individuals we all look back on a kaleidoscope of such memories. Mattapoisett people, as a group, can look with much pleasure at a Town Hall which has been renewed and protected from the elements. The newly shingled building is just beginning to show the change of color to the grey it will become in the salt breeze and the trim is a white unbroken sheath against the storms ahead.

Thanks to a Board of Selectmen which runs the town in the method that survives only in small towns, the work was accomplished with the maximum effect and at the minimum expenditure of money (as a wise homeowner would do a major repair). By doing the work with town employees the Selectmen got the most effect for the money. This is a major achievement of the year 1983 and will continue to pay dividends for many years to come. The Town Hall is now a handsome building, solid and sound and will continue to grow more attractive as the bleaching oil weathers the shingles as it protects the surface.

The addition of the 3 leaded windows donated by craftsman Tony Pelson has added focal points of interest. The Indian at the front peak represents the origins, the "Wanderer" represents the world-wide reputation as a past wooden ship building industry, and the lighthouse is a symbol of the present pleasure of one of the finest harbors on the coast. As we drive by at night and the lighthouse winks we are reminded that good and prudent government action is not dead in the United States. It is just rare in those communities where government is still by the people, of the people and for the people. We can be very thankful that there are still legions of these towns in our country - a bedrock under the contrasting superstructure of big government.

WATER POLLUTION CONTROL PROJECT
(ONE PHASE COMPLETED - ANOTHER BEGUN)

A 10-year "project in the works" is finally drawing to a close. That project is the town's Water Pollution Control Project which began in 1974 when engineers from Tighe and Bond of Holyoke met with the then Selectmen to formulate plans to provide sewer service to about 300 homes in the center of town.

ception, told Selectmen Tuesday that the federal and state grants are in the final stage. Selectmen Chairman John DeCosta signed the final papers rather than the Water-Sewer Superintendent William T. Nicholson and the Water Commissioners because it was the Selectmen, serving as temporary Sewer Commissioners, that signed the original contract in 1975.

Michalski explained the original expected cost of $2,777,000 was reduced to $2,257,000 in actual cost. The savings came about because contract bids came in lower than expected, the engineer said. The final stage was held up because of litigation with Bay Corporation, the sewer line contractor. The suit was finally settled in May of this year for $2,000.

The engineer said the town would be subject to state and federal audits but that Tighe and Bond will help in defending the expenses. A balance in the amount of approximately $100,000 will be used to pay Fairhaven $13,000 for clean-up costs at the sewer treatment plant. Michalski urged Selectmen to keep a balance for last minute costs. "This year should see the end of the line on this project", Michalski commented, after reminiscing about the past 10 years.

On a similar matter, Michalski discussed with Selectmen, Superintendent Nicholson and Board of Water Commissioners Ralph E. Wordell and Donald Wood a new state application for an extension of the sewer project.

Nicholson said the extension would include 42 homes covering Main Street across Route 6, Tobey Lane, Oakland Terrace, Dexter Lane, Hammond Street and, hopefully, the remainder of Beacon Street from Oakland Street to Old Marion Road.

Michalski noted 50 percent funding is available for construction costs only. The possibility of using a portion of the remaining funds from the original project by reappropriating it for the extension is being considered.

that 326 homes are now covered by the sewer system and that there is a capacity of 900 homes.

In other business Selectmen:

VOTED to reimburse Donald Linhares for mileage expenses incurred while driving to a medical clinic in Boston since it did involve an injury that might have occurred in firefighting duty.

The board did agree to ask Linhares for a letter from his personal physician in which the doctor referred Linhares to the Boston clinic.

Selectmen noted this action was a one-time reimbursement. In the past, it has not been town policy to pay for travel for additional care unless it was specifically recommended by the town's insurance carrier.

Following the board's previous decision not to pay the expenses, Linhares wrote a letter in which he cited a payment made to the late Fire Chief Paul Bradley. After checking records with the town accountant, Barbara Dakin, Selectmen agreed the two cases were not the same.

AGREED to send a letter to Gaetana D'Agata, 13 Marina Drive, seeking her cooperation and urging her to reconsider her opposition to having Mariner's Way accepted as a town road.

Owners of the 24 homes on the private road are seeking to have the way accepted as a town road and have so petitioned the town. Mrs. D'Agata, an abutter, has steadfastly spoken against the change.

Call 997-3434 Mattapoisett, Ma.

Town Counsel Donald J. Fleming gave a legal opinion that there could be no layout without Mrs. D'Agata's approval. If the town proceeds there could be an award of damages to Mrs. D'Agata. Fleming felt the damages would not be minimal due to the extent of the area involved. The attorney cited a state statute covering the matter.

Chairman DeCosta pointed out attorney's fees could cost about $400 if the town proceeded to make the change without all the residents of the road approving. He noted the homeowners favoring the change are seeking better street drainage, easier trash collection and easier access for public safety vehicles.

AGREED, in conjunction with the Conservation Commission, to allow Edwin Livingstone to remove trees from his property located along Old Marion Trail (Tinkham Forest). Selectmen reserved the right to monitor the work in progress.

The Conservation Commission reviewed the request and Joseph Souza, Commission member, reported the Commission had no objection, providing certain conditions were followed. The conditions include: work must be done prior to the ground thaw; a minimum of cutting of small pine trees and other small trees should be done; a maximum of cleaning up, and the road must be left in passable condition for safety vehicles.

AGREED to hold in abeyance until June 30, the Class III license of Purnell Guard. The Class III license covers body work done on used cars. At that time he will be notified to come in and apply for the license or it will be cancelled and he will have to reapply if he wants it at a later date. Guard is presently utilizing only his Class II license, the sale of used cars, at his place of business on Route 6.

CLARIFIED the action taken December 27th on its decision as to the disbursement of 1985 shellfish badges. NOTE: This change is for 1985; this year remains the same.

Because of increased postage costs those 50 residents holding reserved badges are being notified that no individual notifications will be sent out in 1985 regarding

Letter to The Editor

A MISSING FISH

Would much appreciate any assistance in establishing the ancestry of Stephen Fish, Jr., who married in 1795 Hannah Coombs. One of their children, Clarissa Jackson Fish, born March 25, 1800, married in 1818 Jacob Childs, and another, Osmond Fish, married Rhoda Braley Allen.

Many thanks in advance to anyone who can help to trace this so far elusive lineage.

Quilts since 1620

LECTURE ON OLD-TIME QUILTS

American Quilts since 1620 will be discussed in informative detail in a public lecture at Southworth Library, 732 Dartmouth Street, South Dartmouth, on Sunday, January 22nd, at 2 p.m.

Henry Callan of Marion, a locally recognized expert and lecturer on antiques, will be the speaker. His talk, disclosing the outstanding examples of historical quilts and coverlets, will be illustrated by color slides; and he will identify and date a wide range of designs, including those worked in crewel, candlewick, English toile and trapunto.

The first cultural/educational event of the new year in a series sponsored by Friends of the Dartmouth Libraries, it is admission-free.

Rochester Youth Hockey

After a holiday layoff, Rochester Youth Hockey is back in action for the second half of the season.

The Mite team, sponsored by Hair Biz, lost a close game by a score of 3-2 against the first place Canal team. The game, played on January 7th, was a well played one by both teams. Justin Swain scored both goals, unassisted. Jeffrey Allain was in net.

In a makeup game played on January 8th, Mites defeated Yarmouth-Dennis 9-2. The two top scorers for Rochester were Justin Swain with 4 goals and Jon Ruel with 3

CABLEGRAM

We'll be making some changes at American Cablesystems effective this month which we think you'll like.

First, our payment policy is changing. We will no longer expect customers with up-to-date balances to pay in advance for a service change. If you request an upgrade, additional outlet or other service under $25.00, we will simply bill your account. If the charge is over $25.00 or involves dropping off a converter, we will collect the full amount COD. This makes it more convenient for subscribers to order cable service and lets you know that American appreciates customers who keep their accounts current.

Second, most trouble calls which previously cost $15.00 are now free, including first call on a tv set problem. Only video game hook-ups, problems with converters that are owned by the subscriber (not leased from us) and second calls on the same tv set problem will be billed. Our charge in these cases will be cut from $15.00 to $5.00.

If you haven't heard, we are offering free installation this month. Don't miss it -- it will not be repeated in 1984.

It's hard for me to write a Cablegram without putting in at least one plug for HBO, which this month features "Best Friends" with Goldie Hawn and Burt Reynolds, "Airplane II", a new season of "Fraggle Rock" for children, a new four-part miniseries set in turn-of-the-century Australia, Albert Finney in "Annie", George Burns in concert, and music from Earth, Wind and Fire, Sheena Easton, Air Supply and the Everly Brothers Reunion Concert.

Finally, we want to wish Debbie Stinson, our Program Director, good health in 1984. We're glad to have her back and are glad to stop running reruns on Bay 8. Stay tuned for more and better local programming in 1984.

Good viewing,
Eric B. Schultz

Well-known regional actor Richard DeLongchamps stars as the free-spirit Murray Burns, caught in a plot to keep his genius nephew from being taken away by the Welfare Board. As sympathetic psychologist Sandra Markowitz, Sandee Freitas is paired with DeLongchamps again, as they were in the raucous comedy hit of last summer, "Father's Day". Neil Murphy, delightful in "The Matchmaker", plays nephew Nick. Larry Bennett and Arthur Ferry, known for their many comic characterizations, add two more to local theater history and in his Gateway debut, Eric Striemer portrays the enemy Welfare man.

Direction by award-winner Mary Briggs and David Boyce in his directorial debut. Set design is by Boyce.

Ticket prices are $5. and $6. Reservations can be phoned to 295-6768; tickets are also available at the door.

A Thousand Clowns promises to be a poignant and riotous evening of theater for all and a perfect way to start the New Year!

Plymouth County Wildlands Trust

RECEIVES GIFT OF 115 ACRES CONSERVATION LAND

The Plymouth County Wildlands Trust, a non-profit land trust dedicated to the preservation of natural areas in southeastern Massachusetts, has received a gift of about 115 acres of land from Hope G. Ingersoll of Bourne. The gift, which includes part of the Ingersoll family's Grazing Fields Farm, is located in both Bourne and Plymouth. Within its boundaries are open fields, maple-cedar swamps, pine-oak woodlands, marshes, bogs and ponds. It is an important habitat for native plants and animals and will be protected in a natural state for the public benefit by the Plymouth County Wildlands Trust.

SPECIAL CONSTRUCTION UPDATE

CABLEGRAM

Happy New Year. The build in Mattapoisett continues to move along. The utility companies have been replacing poles and making ready their plant for cable attachments. American will begin tree trimming this week. We have bids in from contractors and believe that their maximum lead time is about three weeks. Our marketing staff is gearing up materials and personnel. The only delays now will be those associated with weather or normal construction demands.

I appreciate your patience with American through this long build process. I will keep you updated on our continued progress through these Cablegram messages.

One last note. We will extend our free standard installation offer to residents in these five Mattapoisett areas so that as many people as possible will be able to take advantage of it.

We hope to have you on the service soon.

Sincerely,

ventory of the property and prepare a master plan for it. Such a plan will assure that public access is provided in a way that is compatible with proper protection of the land and natural systems that exist there. It is already known that two rare wildflowers, the Plymouth gentian and long-beaked baldrush, grow at the edges of the shallow ponds. Pink lady's slippers abound in the pine-oak woods and rose pogonia orchids accent the borders of the cranberry bogs with shades of pink. Over the years, the ecological diversity of Grazing Fields Farm, coupled with protection afforded by the owners, has attracted a wide variety of nesting and migratory birds, as well as fox, deer, weasel, and other animals. It is truly a sanctuary in a rapidly developing part of the state.

The Plymouth County Wildlands Trust is an all-volunteer, membership organization which celebrated its tenth anniversary this year. With the recent gift from Mrs. Ingersoll, PCWT now protects over 770 acres of conservation land on 15 reservations in Bourne, Kingston, Middleboro, Plymouth, Rochester and Wareham. Each year it offers the public free, guided walks and outings at its own preserves and at other interesting outdoor locations. It also sponsors public programs that dramatize the many reasons why land conservation is crucial to the quality of life in this region. A program at Plimoth Plantation on "The Flowering of New England" the night after Thanksgiving offered a color slide show with music on native plants and poetry. An illustrated lecture at the Brockton Art Museum in September examined how the landscape of southeastern Massachusetts has been changing over the past several decades.

Membership is open to anyone who shares PCWT's interest in preserving valuable natural resource lands and the character of the landscape. For information write to Membership Chairman, Plymouth County Wildlands Trust, State Road, RFD 8, Plymouth, MA. 02360.

Babysitting Workshop

Pilgrim Health Care, a health maintenance organization serving southeastern Massachusetts, will be sponsoring a free babysitting workshop on Saturday, January 21st, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon at the New Bedford YWCA, 66 Spring Street, New Bedford.

The three-hour workshop has been developed especially for young people between the ages of 11 and 16 to help answer questions that they may have about babysitting. The program will cover such topics as instruction on proper child care and basic first aid, following parent instructions, knowing important phone numbers, learning safety precautions, how much to charge, and much more. Also scheduled for the program is a film on babysitting and a guest speaker from the New Bedford Police Department. The class will also include hands-on demonstrations. A light snack will be provided at the end of the course.

The workshop will be taught by a registered nurse. Upon completion of the workshop, participants will be awarded a certificate of achievement from Pilgrim Health Care.

Teenagers interested in attending the workshop may register by calling the administrative offices of Pilgrim Health Care in Middleboro, MA. at 1-800-242-1454. Registration is limited.

According to Paul R. Egan, executive vice president of Pilgrim Health Care, the babysitting workshop is part of Pilgrim's continuing community service and health education program. Says Eagan, "It was

Children's Museum

AUTOHARP WORKSHOP

An AUTOHARP WORKSHOP for parents and teachers will be conducted at the Children's Museum by Mike Holmes, a local Folk Musician, on Saturday, January 21st, 12:30 to 2:00 p.m. The workshop will instruct participants in playing and tuning the autoharp. This instrument is popular, easy to play and appealing for anyone with little or no musical background. Mr. Holmes will also discuss how the autoharp can be used to help young children enjoy and learn about traditional folk music. The fee for this hands-on workshop is $10. per person. Preregistration is required.

FOLK MUSIC CONCERT

Mike Holmes will also present a TRADITIONAL FOLK MUSIC CONCERT at 3 p.m. on January 21st. He is talented in both the playing and repairing of a variety of musical instruments. The Children's Museum is proud to sponsor him in a concert aimed at helping parents and children alike discover the fun and enjoyment of traditional folk music. So, bring your friends, family, the building's dairy farm heritage with an international collection of cowbells now on display. Assembled by New England Dairy and Food Council, the collection includes cowbells from the United States and countries in Europe, Africa, and Asia. It appears in conjunction with Dairy Council's nutrition education exhibit for children, "Your Snacks: Chance of Choice?", which is at the museum until February 29th. Appropriately enough, children will find both exhibits side by side.

The cowbell collection pays tribute to dairy farmers in New England and around the world. Each bell is unique - the result of how creatively each farmer made use of the materials available to him. For example, in some far eastern countries, dairy farmers used teak and bamboo because metal would easily rust. They hung hand-carved wooden clappers on the outside of their bells to produce a louder tone.

Despite the infinite variety of bells, all served the same purpose to protect cows from wandering too far. Today, farmers keep better track of their herds using sophisticated methods of feeding and milking. As a result, cow bells are rarely seen or heard. Along the New England countryside they have become collectors' items.

WILD AND WONDERFUL ALASKA

"Wild and Wonderful Alaska", the nationally-acclaimed wildlife film by filmmaker Ken Creed, will be presented on Friday evening, January 20th, at 7:30 p.m. in the Sandwich High School Auditorium, Quaker Meetinghouse Road, East Sandwich. The film will be introduced and narrated by Mr. Creed in person and will be an exciting adventure for the whole family. The naturalist and cinematographer explores the last great North American wilderness, more than a quarter-of-a-million square miles of rivers, mountains, tundra and forests. Creed travels to these remote areas using dog sleds, airplanes and kayaks.

Sponsored by the Thornton W. Burgess Society, proceeds from ticket sales will directly benefit the Society's natural history programming. Tickets are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children 14 and under. (Those under 12 must be accompanied by an adult.) Tickets are available now at the Green Briar Nature Center, 6 Discovery Hill Road, East Sandwich. Tickets may also be purchased at the door on the 20th.

Saturday, January 14th, marks the 110th birthday of children's author and naturalist Thornton W. Burgess. All children are invited to join in a special Burgess Storytime and share a piece of birthday cake on Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in the Thornton W. Burgess Museum, Water Street, Sandwich Village. Peter Rabbit, that most popular of Briar Patch inhabitants, also expects to make an appearance with naturalist Stu Parsons. Storytime is free.

Ballet & Choreography

Two informal one-hour talks on Ballet and one two-hour workshop on Choreography for the totally uninitiated but curious adult will be given at the Westport Library in January by Ms. Beth Easterly. There is no admission charge.

The talks on Ballet will be presented on two consecutive Monday evenings, January 16 and January 23, each starting at 7:00 p.m. Anyone interested in learning about Ballet is welcome to attend although it should be noted that the talks are geared for an adult audience. Topics covered will be: the evolution of Ballet terms and movement; the development of Ballet as a performing art; a quick survey of major U. S. companies;

The Choreography Workshop will be given Saturday, January 14, from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. Participants should come prepared to do a minimum amount of movement. The workshop will focus on exploring movement and the rudiments of putting a dance together. Each participant will have the opportunity to make a short movement study exploring some aspect of choreography.

Ms. Easterly has a Master of Arts in Dance Education from George Washington University and has taught at Shenandoah College and Conservatory of Music in Winchester, Va.; Foxcroft School in Middleburg, Va.; George Washington University and the Y. W.C.A. in Washington, D.C. Before leaving the Washington area last July she had her own dance company and has been choreographing for eight years.

Education Courses

Educational courses meeting teacher certification requirements are being offered through the Division of Continuing Studies during the spring semester at Southeastern Massachusetts University.

The education department at SMU provides elementary, middle, and high school certificates through a state-certified course of study.

The Division of Continuing Studies will service students seeking certification by offering the following state-mandated and state-approved courses: Early Field Experience, Philosophy of Education, Human Development and Learning, and Teaching Methods in the Secondary School. Wednesday evening and Saturday morning classes have been scheduled.

More information and registration forms for these and other courses offered through the spring semester are available at the Division of Continuing Studies office in the Group I Building at SMU from 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Mondays through Thursdays and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Fridays.

Spring semester classes begin January 23rd.

Program participants may take day school courses to upgrade their skills or to prepare for a new career. In addition, the program offers opportunities for the student to discuss course selection, career options and job placement with BCC's counseling staff.

Over 100 students registered for the fall semester Tuition Waiver Program. They took day courses in business administration, computer programming, secretarial science, and many other academic areas.

In addition to receiving free tuition, eligible students also received financial aid to cover such costs as books and transportation. Financial Aid is still available for eligible students. To apply for the Tuition Waiver Program call BCC's Admissions Office, 678-2811, extension 179.

New Degree Option

A multidisciplinary studies major that provides flexibility in developing a varied program of study derived from several academic fields is now offered by the Division of Continuing Studies at Southeastern Massachusetts University.

A multidisciplinary studies major is offered because the choice of programs for adults interested in continuing their education may be limited or inappropriate to their career or academic interests, especially for anyone with an associate degree in a diverse field. Also, adults with several years in the work force can often benefit from a college degree which directly enhances their present responsibilities.

The major encourages a flexible combination of diverse courses that forms a coherent program intended to achieve an academic or vocational goal. Applicants play a key role in determining the scope and content of this major.

More information about this unique undergraduate degree option is available at SMU's Division of Continuing Studies office in the Group I Building between 8 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Fridays.

St. Luke's Hospital

APPROVES REORGANIZATION

The Corporators of St. Luke's Hospital recently voted for corporate reorganization which will give the hospital more flexibility in the current competitive health care market. The recommendation came from a committee chaired by Davis C. Howes. Karl P. Goodwin was chairman of the reorganization committee which developed the implementation plan. Others who served on the reorganization committee are: John Hodgson, vice chairman; George Jacobs,

The corporate reorganization which was approved at St. Luke's Annual Meeting will be implemented as of January 1, 1984, after all necessary approvals are granted.

The corporate reorganization plan changes the organization and operation of the existing corporation, St. Luke's Hospital, by converting the existing corporation into a non-profit parent holding corporation called St. Luke's Health Foundation of Greater New Bedford, Inc. The reorganization plan also created two wholly owned subsidiaries of the Foundation which includes the non-profit hospital, St. Luke's Hospital of New Bedford, Inc., and a non-profit real estate corporation, SLH Property, Inc. which will manage and control some of the hospital's peripheral real estate.

The holding corporation or the St. Luke's Health Foundation of Greater New Bedford will control non-profit corporations as sole voting member of these corporations. If for-profit corporations were established, the holding corporation would be the sole stockholder. The holding corporation retains all endowment and investment assets.

Officers of St. Luke's Health Foundation of Greater New Bedford who were elected at the annual meeting are: President, Glen F. Johnson; Vice Presidents, Karl P. Goodwin, David P. Cameron, James P. Honohan; Secretary, Elizabeth O. LaStaiti; and Treasurer, John G. Hodgson, Jr.

The New Hospital, St. Luke's Hospital of New Bedford, Inc., will carry on the hospital patient care activities.

Elected officers of St. Luke's Hospital of New Bedford Inc. are: Chairman Glen F. Johnson; President, Alfred J. Smialek; Vice Chairmen, Karl P. Goodwin, David P. Cameron, James P. Honohan; Secretary, Elizabeth O. LaStaiti; and Treasurer, Leslie V. Belken.

The non-profit SLH Property, Inc. is organized to hold title to and manage certain unencumbered parcels of real estate now owned by the hospital, but not used in direct patient care activities.

The Board of Trustees of the existing corporation maintains its governing role for both the Foundation and the Hospital.

"The community, in learning of the hospital's reorganization, should understand that this new corporate structure does not affect the multifaceted health care services currently offered by St. Luke's Hospital," said Alfred J. Smialek, executive director of St. Luke's Hospital. "The purpose of the plan is to provide a framework through the creation of a multi-institutional health care system," he continued, "that allows the institution to react to new opportunities flexibly and efficiently to better serve the community." Other advantages of corporate reorganization include the potential of using the Hathaway building for other activities other than acute care; ability to expand into services such as geriatric/rehabilitative care; protection of endowment funds; avoidance of restrictive government regulations; potential to increase revenue generating activities; and the potential to spin off present services to improve reimbursement and the ability to compete.

Addressing the Board of Trustees, President Glen F. Johnson said: "The medical and health care environment is becoming increasingly competitive and there is strong public demand for innovative approaches to containing costs. Your Board of Trustees believes it can more efficiently manage the diverse activities of the Corporation and more effectively cope with the economic environment of the industry by restructuring the organization to provide greater flexibility to respond to future opportunities and better coordination of its various activities. Hospitals in Massachusetts and other states have reached similar conclusions, and multi-corporate organizations are becoming more frequent in the health care industry." Over 50% of Massachusetts hospitals have already reorganized their corporate structure.

Breton Named Board Chairman

Real R. Breton, President of the New Bedford Five Cents Savings Bank was elected to the post of Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer at the annual meeting of the bank's corporators.

Mr. Breton who has been associated with the bank since 1962 was previously employed in the Trust Department of the New Haven Bank and at City Savings Bank in Meriden, Conn.

A graduate of Morse College, Hartford, he also graduated with a major in investments from the American Institute of Banking and from the Graduate School of Savings Banking at Brown University.

Mr. Breton came to New Bedford Five Cents Savings Bank in 1962 as First Assistant Treasurer, and after various other promotions, he was elected in 1980 to the position of President and Chief Executive Officer.

Mr. Breton has served on various civic and community organizations. He currently is President of the United Way of Greater New Bedford and a member of the Board of Directors of Junior Achievement. He is also a Director of the Savings Bank Association of Massachusetts, as well as the Savings Banks Employees Retirement Association. He serves on the Asset/Liability Committee of the National Council of Savings Institutions and the Business Advisory Committee for Southeastern Massachusetts University. He presently is also Treasurer of the New Bedford Area Chamber of Commerce and is a Director of the newly formed Economic Development Corp. of Greater New Bedford.

Mr. Breton resides in Mattapoisett with his wife, Jane.

Continuing Studies

CREDIT-FOR-LIFE-EXPERIENCE PROGRAM

Part-time students can earn as many as 30 academic credits towards a degree for non-traditional prior learning experience through the Division of Continuing Studies at Southeastern Massachusetts University.

The Credit-for-Life-Experience program enables qualifying students to be credited for past work and learning experiences.

The Division of Continuing Studies considers past learning experiences and how well the student performed in his job or business in a learning or educational capacity.

Applicants for the program can obtain additional information from the Division of Continuing Studies office in the Group I Building at the SMU campus from 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Mondays through Thursdays and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Fridays.
